

Moved by learning

Researchers have proven that movement helps us learn more effectively. We are limiting children's capacity for learning by making them sit still for too long, too often. We used this knowledge and experience as a starting point.

Our goal? To create a unique active learning environment in which students learn more intensely and develop their creativity through a new, movement-friendly approach. Also 'moved by learning?' Then please contact us for more information about Motion in your school.

Analog & digital version

Motion comes in both analog and digital versions. The digital version has a motion detection module that communicates wirelessly with the online i3LEARNHUB digital board software. This enables you to magically transform the Motion into an interactive and digital educational resource in no time at all.
